Common Module “Cross-Cultural Communication” in Croatia

For the first time, the Common module “Cross-Cultural Communication” of the European Security and Defence College was held at the Croatian Defence Academy “Dr. Franjo Tuđman” as part of the European Initiative for the Exchange of Young Officers (EMILYO).

The joint module took place from November 11 to 15 and involved cadets from five European military academies and defence universities – from Bulgaria, Greece, Italy, Latvia, and Poland, as well as seven cadets from the Croatian Defence Academy. The module focused on developing communication skills and abilities in English within an international military environment, with special emphasis on intercultural competencies.

The program included academic lectures and practical exercises in this field, and the Croatian cadets organized cultural activities that were positively rated by the foreign participants.

The module director was Assistant Professor Dr. Andrija Kozina, while the lecturers included Assistant Professor Dr. Sofia Menezes from the Portuguese Military Academy, as well as Tea Glavaš, PhD and Maja Ivanović, MSc, from the Croatian Military Academy.

This module contributes to strengthening international cooperation and understanding among future military leaders, with the aim of improving professional communication and coordination within NATO and the European Union.
